Every day, people make choices. Some choices are made as conscious decisions, others are instinctive reactions. All have consequences. How do you make your choices?

1. Do you ever think about how your choices will impact others?

Always	Sometimes	Never

2. Do you watch how others interact with people around them? Some people smile and are openly engaged, while others are shy or try to avoid contact. How conscious are you about others? Do you notice if someone is friendly or unfriendly or mean to someone around you?

- I'm very aware, always, of how others are interacting around me
- I don't pay much attention to how people respond to others; occasionally I'll notice
- I never really thought about it

3. Do you attempt to apply religious teachings to your daily life, or your interactions with others?

- Yes, I frequently do
- No, I haven't been exposed to the idea of applying the Bible or any other religious teaching to my life
- No, I've been exposed to religious teachings but it's not something I do

4. Do you think about personal responsibility as you make choices?

Always	Sometimes	Never

5. Have you ever written a diary or journal describing how you make your choices, or about the things that influence how you make choices?

Yes	No
